Overview of Task (Body-Skills)

Activity Introduction

Discuss with the learner that his task-based activity is for fishing guides to become familiar with forms necessary in their field of work. In northwestern Ontario, many guides have a large percentage of American tourists, who would like to take the fish they caught back to the United States. When they cross the border, they must declare any fish. Although there is no mandatory form, many fishing lodges provide a report form.

Question Sheet:

As a fishing guide, you interact on a very personal level with the vacationers. Guides will assist with filling out the forms necessary for crossing the US border. Having an accurate inventory of how many fish are in the cooler when a vacationer crosses the border, will make for a much easier crossing.

Input the information onto the Fish Inventory Report found on the next page.

Joe Merks is from Chicago and he goes fishing at his favourite spot on Lake of the Woods. From past experience, he knows he needs to write down each day what he’s caught. He gives these slips of paper to the guide on the last day of his vacation.

You are the guide and have received Joe’s handwritten notes. Use the following information to fill in the Fish Inventory Report.

1. Locate the place on the form where Joe’s name and address should go. Print Joe’s name and address in that location.

Joe Merks
678 Parklawn Road
Chicago, Illinois
657894

2. How many days was Joe fishing? Locate the place on the form where this information needs to be entered.
3. Add up the number of fish in each category enter those into the form.
